

Connected to memories. And the future.

Remember what it was like when you were a kid? How you used to play outdoors with the other kids from your street without a care in the world.

It seems like a simpler time. A time when down-to-earth family values were important. An era when people took pride in their homes and their community.

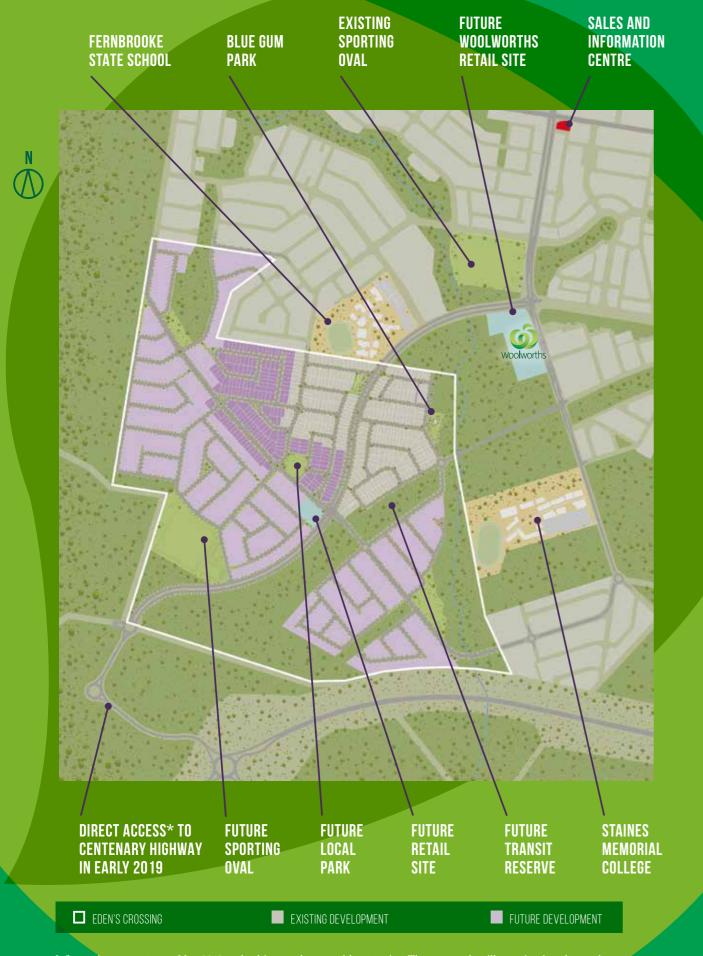

Do you ever wish you could give your own kids that sort of upbringing? Well at Eden's Crossing, you can. This welcoming, safe community is where your kids can create memories of their own that they'll always cherish.

You'll never feel closed in here with hectares of beautiful natural bushland to explore and sporting fields for budding athletes. Yet all the things you need, like transport, shopping and schools, are nearby.

It's a place that's connected to services and connected to nature. And it's a place where you'll forge long lasting connections – to friends, to family and to memories.

In today's busy world, it's important to stay connected to the things that keep us healthy and happy.

At Eden's Crossing you'll find plenty of quiet places to relax, open spaces where you can exercise, and beautiful parks where you can meet your neighbours.

In fact, 35 hectares of Eden's Crossing has been set aside as green open space, conservation areas and creekside parks where you can enjoy the tranquility of nature.

For those who love sport, there will be ovals for kicking the footy or having a hit of cricket.

There are also plenty of regional parks in the area, including the Redbank Plains Recreational Reserve with its recently upgraded sporting fields, skate park and public library.

A network of cycling and walking paths will meander through the Eden's Crossing community and connect to the neighbouring White Rock Spring Mountain Conservation Estate.

Connected to the environment

At Eden's Crossing, nature is just outside your back door.

Just follow the cycling and walking trails across the creek and you'll find yourself in the pristine surroundings of the White Rock Spring Mountain Conservation Estate.

The 2,500 hectare park is a paradise for bushwalkers and mountain bikers with trails ranging from 200 metres to 20 kilometres.

For rock climbers and those seeking an inspiring view, there's the park's most dramatic features, the rocky outcrops of White Rock and Spring Mountain.

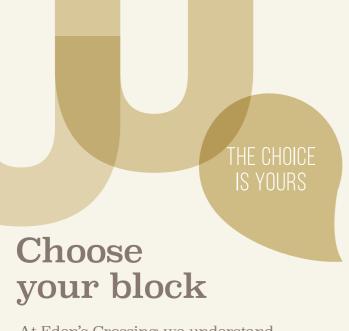

And for nature lovers, the park has some of the area's highest conservation values. It's home to 624 flora and 159 fauna species including eagles and koalas.

Seven major waterways originate in the park, including Six Mile Creek, which flows for a kilometre through Eden's Crossing.

This section of the creek will be revegetated and rehabilitated as part of the community's commitment to connecting with the natural environment.
